Programs for Adults

Fireside Readers

On March 23, two educators in the Baraboo School District visited the Baraboo Public Library to share their reading talents with us.

Lawrence Gillick, Baraboo High School Librarian, read a suspenseful excerpt from the Young Adult novel, Bone Gap, by Laura Ruby.

Lawrence Gillick

Jane McMahon, instructional coach and a veteran 8th grade English teacher at

Jane McMahon

Jack Young Middle School, read a variety of poems by several of her favorite poets, including Billy Collins, Maya Angelou, Marge Piercy and Mary Oliver.

Both readers gave illuminating explanations of the relevance of their spell-binding readings for the young adults with whom they work.

Lit Wits Book Discussion Group Tuesday, April 11 - 6:30 PM

The Lit Wits Book Group will discuss Sarah's Key by Tatiana de Rosnay. This book traces the stories of two protagonists. Sarah, a Jewish girl in Paris, arrested with her parents and put into detention. She is obsessed with escaping and getting back to Paris to rescue her brother. The other protagonist is an American journalist in Paris, who is assigned to write an article about the Jewish roundup, and finds a surprising connection with Sarah.

For details about the group meeting, contact Joan at 356-6166.

Palm of the Hand Memoir Writing Workshop

Tuesday, April 4 - 6:30 PM

Everyone has a story! Join our monthly memoir writing workshop. Newcomers are always welcome. This program is co-sponsored by the UW-Baraboo/Sauk County Library.

Thursday, April 20 - 6:30 PM

Madison's own Stephen Lee Rich will perform music from the Vaudeville era, peppered with descriptions of what Vaudeville was and its impact on American culture. He spices the program with anecdotes about the stars of the day. Leavened with comedic story-telling and a bit of yodeling, the program is suitable for all ages.

Seed Planting Workshop for All Ages

Saturday, April 29 - 10 AM

Sauk County Master Gardener Doreen Hamburg will guide attendees of all ages in giving plants for their spring garden a healthy start. In this hands-on workshop, we will supply cups, soil and seeds for you to plant and take home. Doreen will discuss tips for cultivating your plants, as well as prepare you to save seeds from this year's garden so you can use them next year and share them with others. This program is co-sponsored by the Sauk County Master Gardener Association.

Homeschooling Program for Families

Thursday, April 6 at 9:30 AM

This series of monthly educational programs is aimed at homeschooling families. Programs are appropriate for ages 5 and up. Younger children are welcome to attend and participate as they are able. We will provide toys and a separate play space for little ones. Parents are encouraged to attend and participate along with their children.

May I Recommend?

Circulation Assistant Barbara Lund has worked at the Baraboo Public Library for four years. When she is not at work helping library patrons, she enjoys reading food biographies written by authors who serve up wisdom and humor along with recipes. Here is what Barbara has to say:

Do memories of childhood family dinners put a smile on your face? Like me, you may smile out of disbelief of what was considered 'good food' growing up in the 70s. But, even the Christmas lutefisk had some redeeming qualities. What other tasteless, slimy entrée could strengthen our family ties as we cheered each other to force down at least one bite?

Barbara Lund

Now, as queen of my kitchen, I can ignore that lye-soaked fish and buy fresh, local ingredients and share meals with friends who enjoy outdoing each other in the kitchen. Here are a few food biographies that are funny, truthful and witty. These wonderfully written stories not only contain delicious recipes, they will inspire you to "cook" your best.

Tender at the Bone: Growing Up at the Table (2010) by Ruth Reichl

Animal, Vegetable, Miracle: A Year of Food Life (2007) by Barbara Kingsolver

Three Many Cooks: One Mom, Two Daughters. Their Shared Stories of Food, Faith & Family (2015) by Pam Anderson

Relish: My Life in the Kitchen (2013) by Lucy Knisley

Seed Library is Open

If you are planning to plant veggies in your garden this year, you might be interested in exploring the choices of seed available in the Seed Library.

Sauk County Master Gardener volunteer Doreen Hamburg has sorted through the seeds of previous seasons, keeping only those that have excellent chances of germinating this spring. She has purchased many favorite seed varieties purchased especially for this season. Doreen has also packaged and labeled seeds harvested last summer and fall by gardeners and Seed Library participants.

If you are interested in checking out seeds from the Seed Library, come to the Adult Circulation desk and ask for a registration form. We'll help you get started so you, too, can begin your sustainable home garden.
